

The Luxury of Taste | Made in Italy

OUR STORY

LuxurEat was born from a passion passed down through generations. Its roots lie in the Italian culinary traditions shared by Renato and Renata, the grandfather and mother of founder Roberto Ugolini. From an early age, Roberto grew up surrounded by authentic Italian cuisine, learning that true quality begins with carefully selected ingredients, respect for tradition, and the pleasure of sharing exceptional food. This family heritage inspired a lifelong commitment to promoting the finest expressions of Italian gastronomy around the world. The company's journey began with the selection and distribution of premium truffles. Through years of experience, continuous research, and close relationships with trusted Italian producers, the business gradually expanded into new gourmet categories, including caviar, premium seafood specialties, luxury condiments, innovative truffle creations, and carefully selected Italian delicacies. A significant milestone was the creation of the TruffleBar & Restaurant in Bangkok—a pioneering restaurant concept in Asia entirely dedicated to the world of truffles. More than a restaurant, it became a showcase for authentic Italian gastronomy and demonstrated how premium Italian products and culinary culture could successfully reach new international markets. Roberto Ugolini's more than twenty years of professional and entrepreneurial experience in Asia further strengthened the Group's international vision, providing valuable knowledge of local markets, consumer preferences, distribution channels, and cross-cultural business development.

This experience laid the foundation for the global development of LuxurEat. Today, LuxurEat is an international, family-owned Group with an established presence and commercial activities across Italy, the United States, Thailand, China, and other international markets. Through its brands - including TruffleEat, LuxurEat, CaviarEat, and AlbaTruffle - the Group brings together Italian gastronomic expertise, international logistics, local market knowledge, and regulatory compliance. LuxurEat serves distributors, retailers, gourmet stores, luxury hotels, restaurants, professional chefs, and selected e-commerce platforms worldwide.

Our portfolio includes carefully selected products from Italy, supported by an international network dedicated to import, export, warehousing, distribution, and, where required, specialized repacking operations. Particular attention is given to product quality, traceability, food safety, regulatory requirements, and the specific needs of each destination market. Innovation remains one of our strongest values. Alongside traditional Italian specialties, LuxurEat continuously develops new concepts designed to anticipate changing consumer preferences, including healthier recipes, vegan and gluten-free solutions, premium ready-to-eat specialties, functional gourmet foods, and original truffle-based creations.

Our ambition is not simply to distribute exceptional products, but to build a bridge between Italian gastronomic heritage and the evolving tastes of international consumers.

Every LuxurEat product and project reflects the same philosophy that has guided our family from the beginning:

Authenticity. Quality. Innovation. Passion.

These values define who we are today and guide our commitment to bringing the very best of Italian gourmet excellence to customers around the world.

Company Philosophy

LuxurEat combines respect for culinary tradition with an open approach to innovation. We select products for their quality, character, and traceability, and work with qualified partners who share our commitment to responsible sourcing and reliable production standards.

ITALIAN HERITAGE, INTERNATIONAL VISION

Our identity is rooted in Italian gastronomic culture, product development, and craftsmanship. Many of our specialties are produced and packed in Italy, while selected ingredients - including caviar and other premium raw materials - are sourced from qualified partners in Italy and abroad. This approach allows us to offer an authentic Italian point of view with the quality and flexibility required by international markets.

OUR BRANDS

TrufflEat - Truffles and truffle specialties developed for retail, foodservice, and private-label customers.

Ugolini Gourmet - Sauces, seasonings, and premium pantry products inspired by Italian culinary tradition.

CaviarEat - A curated selection of caviar and caviar-based specialties for international gourmet markets.

Our Certifications

We are proudly certified by globally recognized standards, including USDA Organic, HACCP, and FDA, ensuring food safety and quality. Our products also comply with CITES regulations and are certified Kosher and Halal, meeting the dietary and ethical requirements of diverse global consumers.

Quality Commitment

LUXUREAT APPLIES A PRODUCT-SPECIFIC APPROACH TO QUALITY, SAFETY, AND TRACEABILITY. OUR PRIORITIES INCLUDE:

- careful selection of ingredients and suppliers;
- documented batch identification and product traceability;
- production and packing through qualified facilities;
- compliance with the requirements applicable to each product and destination market;
- Halal, Kosher, organic, or other certified options where specifically available and documented.

SUSTAINABILITY & RESPONSIBILITY

We favor responsible sourcing, efficient packaging solutions, and long-term partnerships with producers. Our product development also explores plant-based recipes, lighter formulations, and ingredients selected with attention to environmental impact.

CUSTOMER EXPERIENCE

From product selection to packaging and private-label development, we support customers with responsive communication, tailored commercial solutions, and presentation designed for premium markets.

GROUP BUILT STEP BY STEP

TruffleEat has grown over time not by luck, but thanks to hard work, investment, and consistency, always putting quality first.

Today we are present in Thailand with our headquarters in Bangkok, the starting point of our journey into the Asian market.

In Italy, we operate from Rome with a production plant in Orte, in the province of Viterbo, the heart of our manufacturing operations.

In the United States, we have operations in Seattle and New Jersey, with FDA-approved import and distribution licenses.

In China we operate from Shanghai with official import and export licenses and registrations dedicated to the Chinese market.

Today, truffles are a best seller in Thailand. And it's no coincidence that we're called TruffleEat.

The domain truffle.co.th has been ours for years, registered when almost no one would have bet on the future of truffles in Asia.

Gourmet Salt Collection

A curated selection of finishing salts created to bring aroma, texture, and a gourmet touch to everyday dishes. Presented in an elegant gift format for retail, hospitality, and corporate gifting.

Elixir Collection

SOY, WASABI & TRUFFLE SAUCE

A bold fusion of soy sauce, wasabi heat, and refined truffle aroma. Created for sushi, sashimi, tartares, grilled seafood, noodles, and contemporary Asian-inspired cuisine.

UGOLINI

THE EXCLUSIVE AND TRADITIONAL ITALIAN GOURMET

In Italy, every region holds authentic culinary treasures. It's not just a matter of chefs or recipes passed down from grandmothers: it's the ingredients, one by one, that truly make the difference. From this understanding, our selection is born, the fruit of passion, tradition, and uncompromising quality.

Pesto alla Genovese is made using only Italian basil (36%). The delicate aroma of basil blends with the strong notes of an excellent Italian cheese: Pecorino. This way, all the ingredients come together to create a recipe with a thicker consistency: ideal for both first courses and spreads.

Gluten-Free Pesto alla Genovese

Ragù alla Bolognese is a traditional sauce from Emilian cuisine, made with Italian tomato pulp and beef. Every family preserves a recipe passed down from generation to generation, and the same is true for our ragù alla Bolognese recipe. Ideal with all types of pasta.

UGOLINI

— GOURMET —

Truffle Cream

Truffle sauce is the queen of ready-made sauces. Made with black summer truffle, it pairs perfectly with simple dishes like egg pasta, fried eggs, and raw meat. A perfect combination of flavor and sophistication. Being very thick, it can be thinned with milk or cooking water. Also ideal as a base for risotto.

Mushrooms Cream

Mushroom sauce is one of the most flavorful Italian sauces, and we make it exclusively with porcini mushrooms and fresh cream. It can be used as a dressing for pasta dishes, but it's also the perfect accompaniment to excellent risottos. It can also be paired with any white or red meat dish.

Sauce for pasta with italian basil

Pesto made exclusively with extra virgin olive oil, Genoise D.O.P. (protected designation of origin) basil, pine nuts, Grana Padano and Pecorino cheeses, in keeping with the recipe for authentic Genoese pesto. This unpasteurized product has a bright green color, intense aroma, and bold flavor. A true delight for the palate.

The Culinary Art

From breakfast to first course to dessert, LuxurEat's caviar, truffles, and select ingredients create an Italian table, where each recipe combines authenticity, technique, and elegance.

Product Overview

Introducing the most authentic Italian luxury cuisine to China. Our products are meticulously crafted by professional manufacturers, produced and managed according to rigorous process and quality standards. From raw material selection to final packaging, every step is dedicated to delivering consistent, authentic quality that meets the demands of high-end restaurants.
